Torrance Man Earns New Honor

LAYNE MARLIN
World's Best

Layne Marlin, 221 Avenida de Norte, today holds the honor of being the world's greatest makeup director.

Marlin was recognized for his achievements in Rome, Italy, recently when he was honored as the World's Most Honored Makeup Director.

The only artist in competition to ever win 11 major awards for makeup perfection. Marlin was also California Gov. Edmund G. Brown's special makeup director during the 1962 gubernatorial campaign.

Beauty knows no age limits according to Marlin. He feels women can actually look younger as they grow older through the work of a professional makeup director.

"We do not have any unattractive women today—there are just women who do not know how to make up attractively," Marlin feels.

Commenting on the "natural look," which he claims is an expression that has been badly abused, Marlin says the look "went out with gang busters."

INSPECTION TIME . . . Kevin Callahan and Teresa Crimmins, frogs in the production of "Once Behind a Lawnmower," look over Kevin's headpiece before going on stage in practice for tomorrow's two performances of the Torrance Recreation Department-sponsored play. The one-act play was adapted from an original story by 10-year-old Mark Spero.
